The Cumbria Partnership Journal of Research, Practice and Learning

Volume 5 • Issue 1 • Summer 2016

CONTENTS

Editorial ....................................................................................................................................................................1

Methodology
Brief encounters with qualitative methods in health research: Ethnography
Adam Benkwitz..........................................................................................................................................................3

Brief encounters with qualitative methods in health research: Phenomenology and Interpretative Phenomenological Analysis.
Colum Cronin & Jonathan Lowes ..........................................................................................................................8

Brief encounters with qualitative methods in health research: Grounded theory
Thomas Earnshaw .......................................................................................................................................................13

Brief encounters with qualitative methods in health research: Conversation analysis
Paul K. Miller..............................................................................................................................................................19

Brief Encounters with Qualitative Methods in Health Research: Narrative Analysis
Louise Rowe ...............................................................................................................................................................23

Leadership
Evaluating the upskilling impacts of a management and leadership training programme in the healthcare domain: Quantitative findings from a Cumbrian NHS initiative
Paul K. Miller, Nicola S. Relph, Tom Grimwood & Elaine Crooks ........................................................................27

Reflections on Leading Learning and an NHS Library Outreach Service
Pippa Orr.................................................................................................................................................................33

Impacts of ‘change projects’ in Cumbria partnership trust’s Learning Leaders programme:
Evaluating qualitative participant end-point reflections
Nicola S. Relph, Vicki Goodwin & Judi Egerton ........................................................................................................36

Research Reports
Results and recommendations following an in-depth case file review of 28 patient suicides in Cumbria
Rachel E. Brown & Philip Taylor ....................................................................................................................................42

Evaluation/Quality
A case controlled study investigating the short-term effectiveness of a supervised exercise and education programme for Non-Specific Low Back Pain (NSLBP)
Iain Hedley Quinn & David M. Webster .....................................................................................................................47

From research to practice: Adapting low intensity (LI) interventions for individuals with common mental health problems and a co-morbid physical health long-term condition (LTC)
Katrina Myers, Jennefer D'Aubyn, Laura Johnston, Catherine Reid, Antonia Sewell, David Sandford, Jim Hacking & Richard Thwaites .......................................................................................................................50

Review
Exercising during dialysis: A reflection on environmental barriers
Leighan Meddick .........................................................................................................................................................56

Training
Developing medical professionalism for psychiatry trainees in the North West: A survey of trainee understanding
Adam Joiner & Sam Dearman .....................................................................................................................................61

Reflection
Promoting exercise among renal patients
Neil M. Thomas ............................................................................................................................................................63

Instructions to authors .................................................................................................................................................back cover